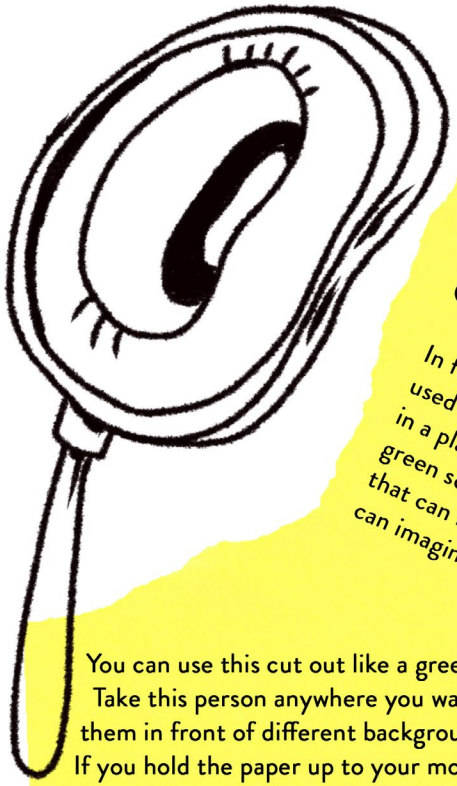
STRANGE LOOP ACTIVITY GUIDE



To make this exhibition, artist Karanjit Panesar has chosen a few objects from the Museum of Croydon as a starting point.

Can you spot which objects came from the museum?

GO ANYWHERE!

In film and TV, green screens can be used to make it look like an actor is in a place that they aren't really. A green screen is like an empty space, that can be filled with anything you can imagine.

You can use this cut out like a green screen.
Take this person anywhere you want by holding them in front of different backgrounds.
If you hold the paper up to your mouth, they might be getting eaten by a giant!
Or maybe they're in the gallery pointing at something in the exhibition.

Try taking a photo of the character in front of different backgrounds
You could even layer a sheet of paper behind, and draw your own background.

What was your favourite background idea?
What story do you imagine with that background?
What is the person pointing at and why?

Write your story idea here

TONGUE TWISTER

Try saying this sentence out loud:

ALL I WANT IS A PROPER CUP OF COFFEE
MADE IN A PROPER COPPER COFFEE POT

Can you find where these words appear in the exhibition?

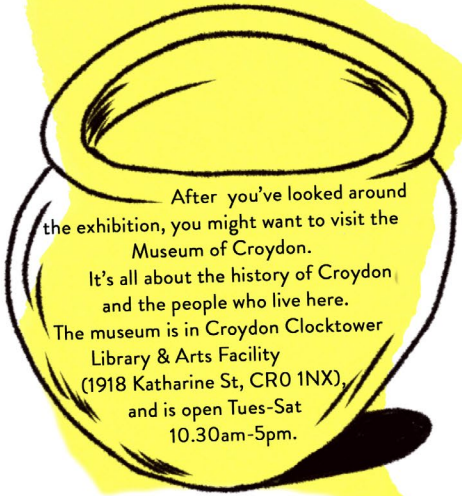
Fake it and Make it // Family Art Fun Day
Sat 30th March 11-1pm // Thurs 18th April 12-2pm

Come and model a fake historic object for our made-up museum!
In this artist-led workshop, you'll explore the exhibition and add your object to our green screen display. This workshop is for children and their families to explore together!
All ages and abilities are welcome. Make sure to book a free ticket in advance at turf-projects.com/family-art-fun-day/



After you've looked around the exhibition, you might want to visit the Museum of Croydon.
It's all about the history of Croydon and the people who live here.
The museum is in Croydon Clocktower Library & Arts Facility (1918 Katharine St, CR0 1NX), and is open Tues-Sat 10.30am-5pm.

MADE UP HISTORY

Museums tell the stories behind old objects.
Sometimes museums tell us facts about things on display, but sometimes they have to give their best guess.

Pick an object in the gallery that you think is interesting.
It could be anything!

Now think of a question about the object you chose.
You might want to know who made it?
How old is it?
Where it has come from?

Now try to answer your question.
Look for clues and ask people around you.
If you're not sure, you could guess, or make up an interesting answer.

Tell your question and answer to someone else.
Do they think your answer is true?
Why?
