

Common Ground

Ready, Set, Go!

Welcome to our studio members' takeover of Turf Projects. Our studio members are all artists who make their work inside this building! They were inspired by a project called 'Cultural Field' by Rosa-Johan Uddoh. Both this show and Cultural Field asks questions about who has access to our public spaces, and think about how football is for everyone no matter your skin colour, who you feel like, and what you believe in.

It's a game where we can celebrate our differences because we share a common goal. But sometimes, only certain people get to use pitch space to play the game, and some people's achievements in the game are celebrated more than others. The project reimagines what football looks like when everyone is treated the same!

Our studio members have been inspired by this idea and turned football upside down! They have turned football into sculptures, costumes and music!

Let's look around the show!

Can you spot all the football themed things?
Count how many you see...

Katherine Smith

Katherine thinks about how movement can connect us. Have a look at the video. Imagine your own line running across the gallery. Move across the line like the egg in any way you like.

To make sure you aren't close to a piece of artwork look at the diagram here!

Jhinuk Sarkar

Touch and listen! Feel the grass! Can you describe the texture?

Milktooth

Fran has left a bag at the football game! Can you guess what's in Frans bag?

Flora Hunt

If you were a football, what would you say? Would you talk about your day? Sing? Or make a loud sound? Show us!

Asha Fontenelle

Asha's work is thinking about her memories of Selhurst Park. Can you share a park memory?

TURF

Amy J Wilson

Like Amy, design what your own football pitch could look like!

Play your new game with the person you are with.

Invent your game rules!
Is there a ball?
How do you win?
How is space shared fairly?

Cut out your football players decorate your shirts.
Cut the two circles out to make two holes. Put your fingers through to create your football player

Share a photo of your game with us!
